Dear Mr. Fletcher:

The writer is legal council for the Charleswood St. James Assiniboia Headingley Conservative EDA.

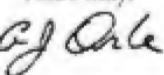

I am advised that you have misappropriated property of the EDA without its consent. Further, you are using that property without the permission of the EDA. You have been told to return all of this property and have ignored that request. The EDA regards this as theft. Failure to return all of the following items will result in this matter being referred to the appropriate authorities:

1. All lawn signs, wood and screws/wires and other like promotional materials;
2. All electronic voter data taken from the EDA data base with confirmation same has been removed from your computer(s);
3. Portable speaker system with microphone;
4. Scanners;
5. Canadian Flags with stands
6. All other material(s) purchased with Conservative Party of Canada funds.

It has come to our attention that you have downloaded unauthorized copies of the EDA database and voter identification records and are using same in your campaign. This information is proprietary to the Conservative Party of Canada and you have no permission to use it or to access it. The information was collected in accordance with privacy legislation and Elections Canada Regulations. Your use of it is a breach of same and the rights promised to the voters listed.

You have 3 days to deal with this demand to our satisfaction.
